"It's rapidly dawning on women that their growing economic power offers a tremendous opportunity to...change lives, markets, and the environment, simultaneously. Maddy Dychtwald has captured this speeding train with insight, data and substance..." -Cathie Black, President, Hearst Magazines

"Willie Brown has long proven himself to be one of the most charismatic, engaging, and effective politicians of his generation. These candid recollection reveal the wit, wily wisdom, and panache of a man destined for political leadership."—Kevin Starr, author Americans and the California Dream series.

Make a contribution to the chapter's scholarship fund of $25 or more and we will send you a book of your choice from our Diversity Luncheon Library.

Maddy Dychtwald, author of Influence, was the 2010 Diversity Luncheon speaker. Former San Francisco Mayor Willie Brown spoke in 2009, shortly after publication of Basic Brown. Both books are hardcover, first editions, retailing for about $25.

Tax-deductable contributions will be forwarded to the IREM Foundation and credited to the chapter's scholarship fund. Grants are awarded to chapter members pursuing their IREM designation.

Return this form, or check the box on your dues invoice. Indicate which book you would like. Supplies are limited, so we reserve the right to make substitutions. Please allow two weeks for shipping. Make a copy of the form as a receipt for your tax records.
